HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the beneficial results which have followed the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine in the case of my wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I was unable to sleep, and was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. Your Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and power of health were improved.

THOUSANDS

OF SUFFERERS FROM HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, AND ALL THE AFFECTIONS OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM, HAVE BEEN CURED BY THE USE OF DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

Henry Clow's Weekly Letter on the Business Outlook.

SOME SYMPTOMS OF IMPROVEMENT

In the Tone of the Stock Market.—The Veto of the Seigniorage Bill an Invaluable Gain Toward the Recovery of Confidence—Hopes for the Future—The General Situation.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligence.

New York, March 31.—The past week has shown distinct symptoms of improvement in the tone of the stock market. There has been a more settled feeling of confidence; a broader interest has been developed in both the speculative and investment departments; transactions have become more general outside the mercantile "industrial," and some of the prominent "bears" have turned over the "long" side of the market.

In a general sense, this improvement is due to the many influences that have for some time been working towards a better condition of business, and it is to be regarded as one of those spurts of the steady process of return towards a normal condition of affairs, and which are preparing the way to a really active upward movement in values. There is, however, one special cause for this improved feeling, which is quite important. The general confidence in the President vetoing the seigniorage bill has had a notable effect in Europe. The main fact which has kept London unimpressed in American investments during a very marked recovery in other securities at that market, has been a fixed apprehension lest there might be more or less recantation of the decided anti-silver policy indicated in the late suspension of silver purchases. That is the one point on which the European markets are sensitive and wary towards our corporate issues; and that distrust has been exhibited in an almost total cessation of foreign demand for our stocks and bonds for a considerable time past.

Even the Paris Bourse seems to have deflected its contemplated admission of "Americanism" to its call principally on this account. What has most concerned these foreign centres is chiefly the question as to what may be the President's attitude on the silver issue; for they have felt that, if he could be trusted to prove faithful to the policy of the repeal act, no serious harm from the unsound money danger could come for the next three years, which would cover these contingencies far enough ahead to serve all present purposes. The assurance sent across the Atlantic that the President could be depended upon to veto the Bland bill, have had the effect of bringing large London orders for bonds and stocks during the past week, thereby stopping the export of gold. It is reasonably argued that if such important transactions have been made in simple anticipation of the President's veto, the demand is likely to prove much larger when the expectation is confirmed by the fact.

This matter of the possible London demand is more important than might be supposed at first sight. The continued increase in British trade and the active speculation on the London exchange are accepted as clear evidence of a new era of confidence and enterprise in Great Britain. The suspension of new creations of corporate capital for the last two or three years has resulted in a real scarcity of investments, and prices of certain kind of securities are becoming abnormally high. Alert bankers and promoters are on the lookout for bargains in existing issues, and next for opportunities for new enterprises. London agents are now in this country prospecting for business of this kind. They are likely to find plenty of chances growing out of the very marked curtailment of railroad construction during the last four or five years.

Schemes of that character are now in process of formation; and, at a later stage, European capital is likely to have its opportunity for participating in their fruition. Evidence as yet beneath the surface indicates that, so soon as pending obstructive legislation is out of the way and business has resumed its normal course, there will be a launching of new enterprises that will give employment to the large amount of now idle home capital and at the same time attract active co-operation from foreign money centres. It therefore would not be surprising if, twelve months hence, we find the United States and Europe in the midst of a marked revival of investment and speculation. Wall street begins to discover the dim outlines of this future. The prospect is contributing to a more hopeful, not to say sanguine, feeling; and as the outworkings of these tendencies become gradually more apparent, the spirit of speculation will develop and values will correspondingly advance.

The President's veto of the Bland bill is an invaluable gain toward the recovery of confidence. It is not only a reaffirmation of the conservative monetary policy written largely on the face of the repeal act, but it is an assurance that the policy is safe for the remaining three years of the President's tenure of office. And this is an immense assurance; for, if the silver craze can be held in restraint for three years, ways will be found for neutralizing it subsequently, if indeed it does not expire from its own inherent weakness. Senator Stewart's introduction of a free coinage bill, though annoying, is not to be regarded in a monetary sense. It may run into causing obstructive confusion of other pending legislation, for the completion of which the business interests are impatiently waiting; but no one better knows than Senator Stewart that his scheme would be quashed by the President, and that it cannot be carried over his veto. It is simply a new display of the reckless and exasperating tactics by which the silver faction seeks to worry the country into concessions which it is resolved never to grant. Whatever annoyance therefore the senator may inflict he can only share another failure.

A STORY OF CRIME.

A Belgian Government Official and His Wife Murder Relatives for Insurance Money.

Luxemburg, April 1.—The papers of several European capitals have made within the past few days garbled allusions to an astounding crime, or series of crimes, alleged to have been committed in Belgium.

The story is already the talk of several court circles and is sure to fully transpire within a few days, when the machinery of justice makes a decisive move. It concerns the head of one of the departments of the Belgium government and his wife, who is the daughter of an eminent general, now dead. They are accused of murdering by poison no less than five of their relatives in order to obtain large sums through the insurance on their lives.

Suspicion aroused over the manner of the death of the brother of the accused woman early in the present month led to an investigation by the insurance company with startling results. The account of the discoveries sent by the Brussels correspondent is confirmed by officers of the Guardian Insurance company, of London, which promoted the inquiry.

The young man, who was insured a few weeks before his death for $20,000 for the benefit of his sister, died suddenly on March 6 at the residence of his sister and brother-in-law in Antwerp.

The beneficiary had shown much haste in completing the policy and demanding the proceeds, and after the death serious defects were found in the answers to questions in the application and proof of death. An inquiry was begun, and finally the body was examined, when poison was found in the stomach.

It is learned there have been four similar deaths in the same house within four years, the victims all relatives and each carrying fresh insurance for $20,000 to $30,000. Their bodies were also disinterred this week, and poison is said to have been found in some. The analyses are not completed and arrests have not yet been made, but will follow soon.

The suspected persons move in the highest circles, and their reputations have hitherto been untarnished. The ghastly story is so widely known that it is hardly possible that they are unaware of the suspicions, but so far they have maintained an undisturbed demeanor.

HAD THE LAST WORD

A Good Story of One Colonel Breckinridge's Wayward Sons.

Chicago Record.

I heard a good story on Colonel Breckinridge from a Kentucky congressman last night. It seems that the defendant in the pending breach of promise case has a family of grown-up children, three girls and two boys. One of the latter is a partner in his father's law practice, and has been active in taking depositions for the defense. He has sowed a good many wild oats, but not so many as his brother, who is described as about the wildest and most reckless youth in the blue-grass region. Not long before the present scandal broke out young Breckinridge went into a desperate row down in Kentucky, in which several men were shot and out, and himself badly used. Colonel Breckinridge, when he was in Washington, heard the news and telegraphed at once to Colonel Shelby, his partner, "Have Bob kept in jail until I return."

The instructions were carried out. As soon as Colonel Breckinridge could leave Washington he went to Lexington, made Bob pack up his things and took him to Philadelphia, where he put him on board a sailing vessel that was bound for San Francisco around the Horn, with instructions to the captain to discipline him if necessary. He hoped the voyage would do the young man good. But the very day the ship sailed the Pollard scandal was published in the newspapers. Of course Bob heard of it, and read all the disgusting details. Whereupon he went to the telegraph office and wired Colonel Shelby at Lexington: "Have father kept in jail until I return."

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c for large bottle. At Logan Drug Co.'s Drug Store.

Secret marriages are in every country in Europe considered illegal.

The Puzzle Solved.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most numerous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the many modes of treatment until the introduction of My's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising. No druggists without it.

Many Persons are broken down from overwork or household cares. Brown's Iron Bitters rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Sore Throat Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the inflamed throat, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Sore Throat Syrup" and take no other kind.

Looking Better

feeling better—better in every way. There's more consolation in that than well people stop to ponder. To get back flesh and spirits is every thing.

Beauty may be "only skin deep;"

but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, pimply complexions may, in most cases, be rendered soft, smooth and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

New York, March 31.—Money on call easy at 1 per cent. Loan and closed at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3 1/2 per cent. Sterling exchange dull at 154 1/2 per cent. Silver certificates 104 1/2. No sales. The total sales of stocks to-day were 167,525 shares.

The share speculation was unusually active for a stock market, with the exception of a brief period around 11 o'clock, when reacting caused a fractional reaction. The tendency of the market was in the direction of higher prices, the market closing at an advance on all main features of yesterday, ranging from 1 to 1 1/2 per cent in the active list extending to 2 per cent in the specialties. There was the customary covering of shorts over Sunday, and the market was supplemented by very good buying for the London account in St. Paul, Atchafalaya and Louisville. This foreign buying was a large factor in the strength of the market, not to mention the greatness of its volume as it itched the bull movement in American securities on the London stock exchange. The market closed strong at or near the best prices of the day.

Railroad bonds were strong.
